

Qualifications and experience required

At KiwiOz we get a range of jobs including both nanny and mother's help roles. This means that we can assist most candidates no matter what level of experience they have. Most of our roles are permanent so you would usually need to be free to commit for a minimum of 12 months.

The most popular sole charge nannies are candidates who are qualified in childcare and/ or have long term experience working as a nanny (at least 3 years, or 2 years if the candidate has been working full time). We also find qualified teachers and nurses popular.

Shared charge nanny jobs often require a lower level of experience as one of the parents is at home to work with you. Good candidates for shared charge roles include the newly qualified nanny and people with childcare centre/ nursery or teacher aide experience. Often once you have worked as a shared charge nanny for a year you would then be considered for appropriate sole charge roles.

Mother's helps are accepted from all backgrounds, and will often have temporary experience in a childcare centre/ nursery or babysitting experience.

Drivers are always popular but it is not an essential requirement.
